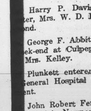
Talented 4-H'ers Receive Awards For Dairy Foods Demonstrations



Miss McComb

Miss Martin

Susan McComb, 17, of Harrisonburg; Carolyn Sue Martin, 16, of Roanoke, and Polly Mullinix, 15, of Richmond, 1961 state award winners in the 4-H dairy foods demonstration project, will gladly give you the time of day. Each received a 19-jewel wrist watch from the Carnation Company for their accomplishments with dairy foods products.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. McComb, who farm 214 acres in Rockingham county, Susan McComb's herd of Guernseys started her thinking about the uses of dairy products. A seven-year 4-H'er, she was on a blue ribbon dairy judging team and served as secretary-treasurer of the county dairy club.

The Misses Martin and Mullinix are urban members of 4-H, proving that this popular organization is "going to town." More and more towns and city youngsters have become interested in 4-H work in the last few years, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Versatility marks Miss Martin's cottage cheese concoction as top notch. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin J. Martin of 3250 Ledgewood Ave., S.W., Roanoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Mullinix and Polly's two older sisters enjoy her prize-winning lasagna, an Italian favorite with three kinds of cheese. The Mullinix family lives at 7503 N. Pinehill Dr., Richmond.

These girls, representing the first three years of high school, are all musical. The Misses McComb and Martin are pianists while Miss Mullinix sings in the chorus and belongs to a bell-choir. All three fulfilled the 4-H objective of helping others through their projects by serving as junior leaders in their local clubs and at county and district camps.

Miss Mullinix

The Cooperative Extension Service joins with the National 4-H Service Committee and more than 50 of the nation's leading business firms, associations and foundations in making healthy, educational and competitive 4-H projects available to American youth.

Join The 'Cold Soup' Set

Vichyssoise is the "cream" of cold soups, particularly when the mercury soars, and appetites will. It's easy to prepare, if made with instant whipped potato flavor flakes, and delightful to taste, too. The Borden Kitchen has developed this modern way of making France's famous summertime soup, using modern-day instant flavor flakes to cut potato preparation time in half.

Vichyssoise Supreme
(Makes about 6 cups)

3 cups water
1 medium-size onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
4 chicken bouillon cubes
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3 cups (1½ pints) Light Cream or Half-and-Half
1½ cups Borden's Instant Whipped Potatoes (flavor flaked form)

Place water, onion, parsley, bouillon cubes, butter and seasonings in large saucepan; bring to boil. Stir; cover. Simmer over low heat until onions are tender, about 12 minutes. Add light cream or Half and Half; bring to boiling point. Remove from heat; stir in potato flakes. Let stand 3 minutes. Chill well. Garnish with chopped chives.
